

An inside look at the SEC's cyber exam

August 29, 2019

Advisors may think they are well versed in cybersecurity. After all, the SEC has publicly detailed its key cybersecurity focus areas, like risk assessment, data loss prevention, vendor management and incident response. But do financial planners know how examiners evaluate firms to determine whether they pass the test? Probably not.

By Wes Stillman, Read the full article here