

Voices Cybersecurity mistakes your firm is still making

October 6, 2021

As recent breaches and related major SEC-imposed fines have made clear, cybersecurity is not something that financial advisors and accountants can afford to address once in a policy handout, never to revisit. Forewarned is forearmed. Here are the most common cybersecurity mistakes that advisors and accountants are still making.

By Wes Stillman. Read the article here.