

Voices RIAs: How to build a cybersecurity backbone before the SEC calls

January 29, 2019

Cybersecurity is a serious game and independent registered investment advisors are up against some of the best criminals out there, simply because of the nature of this business. Since the stakes are so high, the SEC is intent on penalizing firms that lack a locked-down offense and defense.

Read full article, Written by Wes Stillman for Financial Planning here